The coolest place in town to take the kids these school holidays

After months of anticipation and excitement, Darwin's first permanent ice-skating rink is finally set to open at Darwin Airport Central in early July, perfect timing for the school holidays.

Following the success of the temporary facility located at the Darwin Showgrounds in April, local Darwin husband and wife team Jeff and Amy Hunnam started the hunt for the perfect venue to locate a permanent venture.

"With most of the Darwin population living or working within 5km of Darwin Airport Central, and the opportunity to join an already humming entertainment precinct, it was the natural choice to locate the Darwin Ice Skating Centre" said Jeff Hunnam. "Our business concept has become a reality through the collaboration of Patrick Bellot, Property Development Manager NT Airports, local architect Gabbert Designs, local builder Tailor Made Building, Winter Magic Ice Skating and Tobogganing and The Exhibitionist providing the signage. Their collective assistance in pulling this project together in time for the school holidays was second to none."

"Darwin Airport Central is fast becoming well-known for its ground breaking projects. We're delighted and excited to welcome Darwin Ice Skating Centre to our business park," says Ross Baynes, Director Property. "And we're proud to have engaged, yet again, a local architect and a local builder using 100% local sub-contractors to construct this wonderful entertainment facility. Encompassing first-class commercial, retail, entertainment and leisure facilities this exciting urban habitat continues to attract locals and visitors to work and play."
