NT Airports announces Trident Services Australia as new Aviation Security Services Provider

NT Airports today announced Trident Services Australia as the new Aviation Security Service provider to Darwin International Airport and Alice Springs Airport.

In making the announcement, NT Airports CEO Ian Kew said "Given the pending changes to aviation security in Australia, together with the introduction of computer topography screening equipment in our terminals, it was important for us to select an innovative provider to work alongside in navigating the ever-changing aviation security environment. We are confident Trident Services Australia are focussed on delivering consistent security outcomes, compliance and customer and stakeholder satisfaction."

Trident Services Australia are a Brisbane based company who have been delivering security services for 24 years and currently over a 1000 people in Australia. They currently deliver aviation security services including, passenger, checked baggage and non-passenger screening in Cairns, Mackay and Whitsunday airports.

Managing Director, Trident Services Australia Greg Gately said "Our Aviation Services division is very pleased to be appointed the provider for aviation security services to Darwin and Alice Springs Airports. Our experienced leadership team will ensure full compliance with government legislation whilst providing a high level of staff training ensuring guards and screeners at both airports not only mitigate threats, but deliver excellent customer service at these facilities."

It is anticipated most of the staff employed by MSS Security, the outgoing provider to NT Airports, will be re-employed by Trident Services Australia.

“The MSS Security team have provided a very high standard of security services to our airports over the past three years and we thank them for their excellent service. We will be working closely with the team through this transitional period to ensure they are well looked after,” said Mr Kew.
